

VICTOR HERBIET

Saxophonist Victor Herbiet was a member of Canadian Forces bands from 1999 to 2011, playing concerts throughout Canada, the United States, France, Belgium, and South Korea and in formations such as stage band, saxophone quartet, and concert band. During this period he worked with the Ceremonial Guard, the Royal Canadian Artillery Band and the Central Band of the Canadian Forces. He then retired to pursue his career as a soloist, composer and teacher. He is frequently invited to play with the Chamber Players of Canada and the Ottawa Chamber Orchestra as guest soloist, and with the Ottawa Symphony Orchestra as principal saxophonist. Mr. Herbiet graduated with a master's degree from the University of Ottawa, where he studied saxophone with Noël Samyn and Peter Smith and composition with Steven Gellman. He later pursued his saxophone studies with Sébastien Tremblay in the Réseau des Conservatoires du Québec and was awarded the Prix du Conservatoire.
