Ottawa, Wednesday, March 10, 2021 – Music and Beyond announces that the Viennese Winter Ball, an event celebrating Austrian music and culture, will sparkle this year as a virtual gala of music and dance. Also making an appearance will be violinists Marc Djokic and Yolanda Bruno.

In keeping in theme of the evening, two gifted young people, violinist Natalie Paravalos and pianist Francis Armour will perform Bach-Gounod's Ave Maria. There will also be appearance by songwriter Sam Roberts, who was recently nominated for a Juno Award.

There will be a special dance performance by Maria Pavel and David Bablitz of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio, the Official Dance Partner of the Viennese Winter Ball. Leading up to the Ball, the Arthur Murray Dance Studio will offer virtual dance lessons with special prices for Ball attendees so couples can learn ballroom dancing at home. Former Débutante, Sydney Shelp will perform a solo dance.

As part of Music and Beyond's comprehensive Young People's Strategy, the Viennese Winter Ball will celebrate the importance of music in the lives of all young people. Not only will the Ball create performance opportunities for young Ottawa musicians (stay tuned for details when the full programme is released), but proceeds from the event will benefit Music and Beyond's young people's initiatives including enhanced programming for young people at its Summer Festival, more young people's concerts, and events such as the Ottawa Family Music Expo.

Funds will be raised through sponsorships, an online auction, and donations.

Attendees can order dinner at home from one of the Ball's partner restaurants, or create their own gourmet dinner. It will be streamed on Music and Beyond's YouTube channel and on Rogers Television. A parallel Zoom meeting will allow people to join break-out rooms or join virtual tables to chat with other attendees. Guests can enjoy the event as a full evening of cocktails and dinner/wine, dancing, and even formal dress for the special evening. People can send in photos and videos and these will be posted on Music and Beyond's Zoom meeting, Facebook page, and Instagram page.

"I am delighted that, despite the challenges of COVID-19, we are able to continue the remarkable 25-year tradition of the Viennese Winter Ball," states Music and Beyond's Executive Director Julian Armour. "This is shaping up to be a very exciting and fun event! I have always thought the Ball was one of the most glamorous events I have ever been to. It is wonderful that people now have a chance to bring that magic right into their homes. The music is absolutely gorgeous"

Although the Viennese Winter Ball 2021 can be enjoyed for free, attendees are asked to make a donation or participate in an online auction. People can show support for the restaurant industry by purchasing a gift certificate to their favourite restaurant and donating it to the auction. Donors will receive a tax receipt for the full value of the certificates. "We all want to make sure that when this COVID-19 disaster is finally over, the restaurants we love will still be around for us to enjoy," states Julian Armour.

About the Viennese Winter Ball

Launched in 1996 with the enthusiastic support of the Austrian Embassy and the Austrian-Canadian Council, Ottawa's Viennese Winter Ball is modeled after Vienna's Opernball and was officially sanctioned by the Austrian Government. It quickly became a must-attend event on the Ottawa gala calendar. After being organized for many years by dedicated volunteers, in 2015 Music and Beyond was approached by the Ball's organizing committee to take on this iconic annual event.

In addition to offering a truly magical evening, the Ball has always been dedicated to giving back to the community with over $1 million raised over the past 25 years. In 2011, the Organizing Committee refined the focus of its charitable donations with proceeds going to arts and cultural programs supporting youth initiatives. Funds raised through the Ball support the young people's programming at Music and Beyond, showing a commitment to providing opportunities to ensure that music can be a part of all young people's lives.

The Viennese Winter Ball has is an unforgettable experience of delicious food, drink, and dancing as well as silent and live auctions and has always been considered one of Canada's most elegant and magical cultural galas.

In 2021, it will continue as a virtual gala, hosted by Her Excellency, The Right Honourable Michaëlle Jean and internationally-renowned tenor Ben Heppner. It will feature Viennese music

Christophe Huss from Le Devoir (Montréal) called Music and Beyond “...the most creative and interesting classical festival in the country.”

In 2018, Music and Beyond was named “Event of the Year” at the Ottawa Tourism Awards. Music and Beyond has always taken its digital presence very seriously. Our web site had visits from 146 different countries in 2019. One of our videos has so far received 3.4 million views - this is roughly the total live audience we would get in 70 years.

Over the past 10 years, Music and Beyond has produced a number of very successful radio broadcasts with CBC and three television broadcasts for EWTN which were seen around the world in 140 countries. Our digital marketing has been extremely effective. We partnered with the Canadian Tulip Festival in 2020 to produce 11 digital presentations which have been remarkably successful.

In 2020, Music and Beyond was forced to cancel its live festival, due to the COVID-19 pandemic. However, in July and August, 2020, it released an ambitious series of 100 videos, and presented over 100 free outdoor mini-concerts. Our annual Christmas with Music and Beyond went virtual in 2020, and has so far received 25,000 views.

Music and Beyond will continue with digital programming for the foreseeable future. On March 13th, 2021, we will present the annual Viennese Winter Ball in a virtual edition that will be enjoyed all around the world.

After twelve years, Music and Beyond now belongs in an elite category with North America's most important classical music festivals and Canada's most respected cultural organizations.
